Musicians Foundation Aid Map
The map below displays the Foundation's impact across the United States. Since our industry-leading online application went live in March 2018, we have given hundreds of grants to musicians in 31 different states (those filled in with MF colors). Prior to our online application, aid grants had been sent to just 10 states. Our effective outreach and streamlined operations have made it possible to reach more musicians in need than ever before. Our goal is to fill in the grey areas and complete the map by giving grants in all 50 states by the end of 2020.

Musician Profile
Musicians Foundation recently provided legendary bassist and two-time Grammy winner Jerry Jemmot with a generous grant to pay one month's rent while he recovers from shoulder replacement surgery. He has had a vibrant career, performing and recording with artists including Aretha Franklin, B.B. King and numerous others. The shoulder procedure requires Mr. Jemmot to take six months off from his instrument, forcing him out of performing, recording, and teaching work. Playing music can be a demanding physical art, and when injuries occur, many performers find themselves in tough situations once they are forced to stop working. Musicians Foundation has a long history of providing grants to many performers, educators, and composers who have experienced serious injuries and need help paying important bills during recovery.

Coming Soon: Text Messaging Service
In an effort to be the most accessible aid organization for professional musicians in the United States, we are planning to announce a text message option for prospective and in-process applicants. Correspondence between applicants and Musicians Foundation will be confidential and linked to future or existing applications. The service will allow applicants to quickly ask questions and receive answers about eligibility, documentation requirements, and more.
